According to the Norwegian immigration Act, committing a criminal offence either in Norway or in another country, may constitute grounds for refusing you access to Norway or for expelling you from Norway. It could also result in you having to wait longer before your application for a resident permit can be granted. If you are currently charged with a criminal offence, the UDI may choose not to process your application until the case has been decided.

If you are under investigation or have previously been penalized in Norway or another country, you are obligated to give information about this. Please use this form and submit it along with the rest of the documents included in your application.

☒ I have read this information and agree.
